

Street Orchestra Live (SOL) exists to take orchestral music out of the concert hall and into the community. We believe access to live music is a vital and enriching part of life and everyone has an equal right to its benefits. We visit open access spaces such as shopping centres, parks and hospitals, and closed spaces like nursing homes, prisons and schools.

Everyone in SOL believes passionately that music should be available to anyone that would like to listen. We offer our concerts with an open hand for listeners to take from it what they wish or what they need. Some dance. Some sing along. Some take inspiration. Many people tell us how uplifted they feel watching and listening to us.

Our musicians come from across the UK, and many are at music college or study music at university. Some are now actively pursuing careers as freelance musicians, and some simply enjoying playing in their free time. Players develop a variety of skills including presenting concerts, arranging music for the orchestra and improvisation.

Through Board retirement we are looking to recruit a new trustee with experience in fundraising.

Street Orchestra Live aims to be an equal opportunities organisation, and we are determined to ensure that no applicant, volunteer or paid worker receives less favourable treatment on the grounds of gender, age, disability, religion, belief, sexual orientation, marital status, or race, or is disadvantaged by conditions or requirements which cannot be shown to be justifiable. We will take steps within our power and resources to meet this responsibility and actively encourage applications from underrepresented groups.

Ensuring that the diversity of our Board reflects the diversity of the communities within which we operate is a key part of this, so we're particularly keen to hear from people from a culturally diverse background (including Black, Asian, Dual Heritage and Other Ethnic groups). Street Orchestra Live has a national remit so we are keen to encourage applications from candidates outside of London. We also welcome applications from people with no prior Board experience.

We recognise that, to ensure that anyone can get involved in our Board, we need to be open to changing how we do things and how we support trustees. So, if you're interested in becoming a trustee of SOL but are unsure whether your geographical location or your access needs might prevent you from getting involved, we'd urge you to get in touch and let us think about how we could support you.

If you are interested in joining the Board please email your CV and a covering email to Flo Ambrose: chair@streetorchestra.co.uk If you have any questions please feel free to get in touch to discuss the position.

We look forward to receiving your application.
